Textile emerged in line with the needs of and undoubtedly managed to conquer all of us. Even hundreds of centuries ago, it is possible to observe the positive impact of textiles on people's lives. The aim of the first people to use textile components was undoubtedly for protection from the cold. Over the years, as technology has entered our lives, the purpose of textile has evolved.

This unique adventure began with the cultivation of cotton as seeds into the soil at scorching temperatures. In this adventure; soils are prepared by hand labor, seeds are planted with forehead sweat ...
Everything is done with fine workmanship and most importantly with love. With the right methods and intervals, the most qualified product is obtained by regular irrigation. The seeds sown by labor, when it is time to harvest, have a white appearance and set out to the cotton gin factories to be delivered to the skilled hands.

In the factory, the fibers are carefully separated from the seeds and converted into fibers while retaining all their naturalness. The final stage of a long and challenging adventure; textile factory. This is where weaving art manifests itself. Cottons can be turned into yarn and fabric, embellished with patterns and hidden behind paints and made ready as a secret hero.

Today's textile products are influenced by the unique field of fashion and art, giving our lives a different dimension. Nowadays, the aim is not only to be protected, but to have a perfect appearance. Textile machines renewed with technological developments and renewed weaving looms became heroes of this flawless appearance.

The textile industry is an indispensable sector in Turkey today with cotton, yarn, wool and many other components. Denizli, known as the capital of textile in our country, has been producing textile products since ancient times. Weaving products made from sheep wool grown in Laodicea were the best productions of the period and gave important signals about the future. These signals were a good sign and today, Denizli exports to more than 170 countries, with natural products from each other is a guest in homes all over the world.
